Peace Chances In New Guinea Grow Brighter

Indonesia To Send Expert to U.N. for Dutch Dispute Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Prospects of negotiations aimed at settling the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea brightened today with news that Indonesia is sending an expert on the territorial issue to U.N. headquarters.

The Indonesian delegation disclosed that Sudjarwo Tjondronegoro, a top aide of Foreign Minister Subandrio, will arrive here Sunday. Sudjarwo, former chief of the delegation, represented his government in past U.N. debates on West New Guinea.

Delegates expressed belief Sudjarwo is being sent here in response to Acting Secretary-General U. Thant's appeal that Dutch and Indonesian representatives discuss with him the chances of a peaceful settlement.

The Netherlands government has accepted Thant's offer to act as mediator and proposed in turn that the U.N. chief send observers to West New Guinea where opposing naval forces already have clashed.

Sukardjo Wirjopranoto, Indonesia's present chief U.N. delegate who told a reporter Subandrio's aide was coming, said there was "something in the air." He did not elaborate.

Sources in Jakarta said President Sukarno has replied to Thant's proposal about negotiating a settlement, but did not disclose the contents of his message. The secretary-general had lunch with President Kennedy—a meeting that reportedly dealt in part with the New Guinea dispute. Kennedy has endorsed Thant's efforts to get Dutch-Indonesian talks on the dispute and has urged both sides to cooperate with the U.N. chief.

Indonesia has insisted that any negotiations should be limited to the problem of how to transfer the disputed territory from Dutch to Indonesian administration.

The Netherlands government wants the talks to take place without any prior conditions.

Indoorsman Pitches Tent In Bitter Cold

CLARE, Mich. (AP)—Tony Wedal, strictly an indoorsman, is spending his first day alone in a cold, snow-choked woods.

Nonwoodsman Tony, 33, was out there today with his tent, kerosene stove, food stuffs and a pint of brandy and wearing heavy underwear—vowing to win $150 by staying for eight days.

Overnight the mercury was to fall to 8 below zero in this northern Lower Michigan area. Tony stuck it out.

"My big mouth got me into this," said Tony before he left for the woods Friday. "But I'm going to win that $150 dare."

This is his first camping venture.

Tony, a probation officer for the Michigan State Corrections Department, made the bet on a challenge when he scoffed at deer hunters who get lost.

Before his adventure started, Tony's wife, Sandra, 30, described him as "strictly an indoorsman," and Tony admitted that "when it gets below 70 degrees in the house I go to bed."

Tony's wife said she was sure that he'd succeed. Tony took one precaution in particular. A friend, Tony Bauer, operator of a flying service, promised to make daily check flights over the camp site.

Boys Attacked, Robbed In Cincinnati School

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police say two teen-agers invaded Cutter Junior High School Friday and attacked two boys.

David Gibson, 13, was slugged to the floor and cut on one shoulder with a knife when he refused to give the two money, officers said. A transistor radio was taken from his pocket. Ronald Moore, 15, said the pair took 69 cents and a pocket knife from him.

New Dominican Republic Chiefs Seek To Practice Democracy

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's fledgling Council of State got down today to the business of bringing democracy to this troubled Caribbean nation, which has known virtually nothing but strongman rule for more than three decades.

The council faced a mountain of economic and social problems left over from the regime of dictator Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, who ruled the nation as his private preserve for nearly 31 years before his assassination last May. But the council also had promises of generous U.S. economic assistance and the apparent support of most Dominicans.

Unfinished business also remained from the brief military takeover, which had been led by Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria. Some political elements, although considered of lesser influence, shouted for Rodriguez Echavarria and former President Joaquin Balaguer to be tried as traitors.

Balaguer headed the council during its first 16 days, until Rodriguez Echavarria in a coup Tuesday night installed a military-dominated junta. A swift counter-coup led by Rodriguez Echavarria's own officer subordinates Thursday restored the council and made the general a prisoner.

Rafael Bonnelly, the 57-year-old lawyer-professor who succeeded Balaguer in the presidency, said that Balaguer and Rodriguez Echavarria "will be submitted to justice if an investigation warrants such action."

There was reason to believe any punishment of Rodriguez Echavarria would not be severe. Two months ago he was a hero to Dominicans for fronting the air force uprising that thwarted an attempt by Trujillo's relatives to bring back his kind of iron-fisted rule.

Balaguer was at his comfortable home on the city's western outskirts. Three armed guards stood outside, but Balaguer told a reporter he did not consider himself under arrest and described the guards as his usual escort.

Balaguer told an interviewer he had refused to yield to demands for his resignation because he feared a military move takeover. He disclaimed responsibility for the violence between Tuesday and Thursday, when Rodriguez Echavarria was in command.

The United States made plain its pleasure at the turn of events against the military-dominated junta.

A U.S. spokesman in Washington said "prompt action" would be taken on recommendations of a U.S. mission for sizable economic help for the hard-pressed Dominican Republic, including U.S. purchases of $45 million of sugar over the next six months.

3 More TV Sets Added to Glenn Home

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Mrs. John H. Glenn Jr., has had three more television sets brought into her house.

That's so one can be tuned to each of the three TV networks Wednesday when her husband, Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., is scheduled to be shot into space as America's first man in orbit.

The Glenn home now has four TV sets. "That's just in case anybody wants to watch cartoons," quipped Mrs. Glenn.

Mrs. Glenn told a reporter that "Sure," she was calm and looking forward to the big day with anticipation. But a note of excitement was in her voice.

Was life becoming hectic? "Oh, I'd rather not say that," she said. "I'd rather have confidence, as she said last fall, in the project that will send her husband into space."

"Oh, yes, I'll say—that's just the same."

Glenn's family intends to watch it all on television. That includes his wife, Anna, 41, a petite brunette; son, John David, 16, with a crew cut; and daughter, Carolyn, 14, freckle-faced and pretty with her father's red hair.

Joining them will be Mrs. Glenn's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Castor of New Concord, Ohio. Dr. Castor is a dentist.

Accidents at Minimum

Three-Inch Snow Blankets County

Although snowfall in this area fell short of the weatherman's prediction yesterday, the county received its share of the white blanket that covered the State. About three inches were recorded here.

No serious auto accidents occurred within the county during the heavy snowfall which began about 9:30 a. m. yesterday. However, local law enforcement agencies reported several minor auto mishaps that came as a direct result of the slippery, snow-covered streets and highways.

The only injury accident recorded here was at about 12:30 p. m. at N. Court St. and Seyfert Ave. Charles W. Davis, 64, Route 2, Amanda, received a laceration of the head when he attempted to stop for a traffic light at the intersection. His auto skidded into a tree at the residence of Robert Hedges, 836 N. Court St.

MOTORISTS traveling in Pickaway County roads and highways apparently used added caution during the snow storm, according to reports from the Sheriff's Department and State Highway Patrol.

Sheriff's deputies investigated four "fender-bender" accidents in the area. Only one vehicle was involved in each case. Deputy Dixie Watters reported that a London motorist complained of back injuries after his auto skidded on the icy pavement west of here on Route 56. Everett Royer, the driver, was taken to Berger Hospital and released following an examination.

State Patrolmen of local Post No. 65 reported no activity within the county yesterday, although a minor two-car accident was investigated in southern Franklin County. No injuries resulted in the mishap.

The State Highway Department indicated that all highways within Pickaway County would be cleared by late this afternoon. Primary highways Routes 22 and 23 were reported in good shape this morning. Secondary highways, Routes 56, 188 and 762 remained snow-covered in spots, but were being cleared and salted.

Many county roads are still snow-covered and motorists are urged to drive with extreme caution.

The weatherman said today a few snow flurries can be expected until late tonight. The low temperature for tonight was set at 0-8 above, with fair skies and little temperature change tomorrow.

Northern Half of Nation Digging Out from Snowfall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Severe cold weather maintained a grip on most of the northern half of the nation today as the job of digging out from under another heavy snowfall began.

Ohioans skidded and slipped on a 2-to 3-inch blanket of fresh snow today and the weather bureau gave little hope of any melt-off.

The covering which settled over the state Friday turned highways into sheets of ice and caused postponement of numerous high school basketball games.

The weather bureau predicted temperatures will remain in the teens or low 20s during most of the weekend with a possibility of more snow by late Sunday night or early Monday.

The state highway department reported primary and secondary roads partly snow covered and slippery in spots over most of the state with a few spots where wet conditions exist. The Ohio Turnpike was listed as wet.

One storm hit the Pacific Northwest, bringing blizzard conditions to parts of Oregon as it pushed into the northern Rockies. Klamath Falls, Ore., was staggered by a 12-inch snowfall.

Another storm moved across the country to the Appalachians where it appeared to be losing its punch. It dumped 14 inches on Kansas City and lesser amounts in the East, snarling traffic and closing schools.

A Greyhound bus skidded off U.S. 52 near Ironton, Ohio, injuring two persons. Officials in St. Louis, which had five inches of new snow, said their supply of salt for snow removal was running low due to slowed river barge movements on the Mississippi.

The snow belt also extended into the Middle Atlantic states, creating hazardous driving conditions in Delaware, Maryland, the Virginias and western Pennsylvania. A mixture of sleet, rain and drizzle fell in the western Carolinas.

The Weather Bureau termed the storm in the northern Rockies potentially severe and said it appeared to be headed for the Plains states. The bureau posted heavy snow warnings for parts of Kansas and Nebraska and said high winds and cold threatened the area with drifting and near blizzard conditions.

Temperatures skidded to sub-zero levels again in the northern central Plains states. The coldest spots reported at midnight were Philip and Huron, S.D., with 23 it was -20 at Worland, Wyo.

Freezing readings were reported in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. Wichita Falls, Tex., had a reading of 10 degrees shortly after midnight, a record low for Jan. 20. Freezing rain was reported in Tennessee.

Drizzle and fog dampened much of the Southeast as temperatures remained in the 40s and 50s.

The only temperatures above 60 during the night were in southern Florida. Readings of 72 were reported at Miami and Key West.

Moon Shoot Rescheduled For Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A fueling mishap with the Atlas booster rocket has resulted in at least a four-day delay of an attempt to launch the Ranger 3 spacecraft to the moon.

When the problem developed during a checkout of the Atlas Friday, project officials at first felt the launching would have to be postponed for at least a month.

But a reevaluation showed there was a possibility the difficulty could be corrected in time for a Friday firing. But the officials said the chances were slim. The shot had been scheduled Monday. Friday is the last day of a five-day period when the moon is in a favorable position for the firing. The next optimum period starts about Feb. 20.

Ranger 3 is intended to take television pictures as it nears the moon, then detach an instrument package which is to land on the surface and radio back information on moonquakes and meteor hits.

Major Change In Wind, Is General View

Respected Envoy Sees Sharp Disagreement Among Soviet Leaders

MOSCOW (AP)—Western diplomats pictured the strange quiet emanating from the Kremlin today as a mask for a major development in the wind.

Exactly where it will blow no Western diplomat was brash enough to predict. But one of the most respected Western ambassadors in Moscow said he believed it was much more likely to involve Red China than Berlin.

Noting that Soviet foreign and domestic policy seems pretty much on dead center, this diplomat said there never has been a period of quiet like this without it exploding into some major move.

The diplomat, who is in close contact with high members of the Soviet government, said it was obvious that a major disagreement was going on. What was not clear, he said, was whether it was a squabble among top members of the Soviet Communist party or more widespread among members of the Soviet bloc.

Western diplomats also suggested that Premier Khrushchev is engaged in an ideological battle with V. M. Molotov, the Stalinist former premier and foreign minister. They said Khrushchev may have suffered a setback.

The Western ambassadors were almost united in a belief that Molotov's return to Vienna has been delayed only because the old Bolshevik doesn't want to be shunted off again to such a minor job as Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

Molotov held that post when he and other members of the so-called anti-party group were denounced by Khrushchev at the 22nd Soviet party congress last October. Molotov returned to Moscow Nov. 12 to fight a move to expel him from the Communist party.

Western officials believed then he would not be heard from again in an official Soviet capacity, but the foreign ministry announced Jan. 8 that Molotov was returning to Vienna to take up his post again.

Molotov never showed up, and the Soviet government and the party have since refused public comment on his case.

Bolstering the belief of an ideological struggle was the fresh denouncement of Molotov in Wednesday's Communist party newspaper Pravda, as a dogmatic opponent of Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence, which the newspaper called "the most important question of our time."

Other evidence of what Western diplomats described as the Kremlin's present state of indecisiveness was the fact that the new Soviet ambassador to Washington, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, has not left for his post one month after appointment, and the fact that the Soviet Union is marking time on concluding a new cultural agreement with the United States.

In a Polish language broadcast Friday night, Moscow radio asserted that unity of the world Communist movement "is needed as never before."

Radio Moscow also announced the end of a Moscow conference of district Communist party organizations and central committee delegates from throughout the Soviet Union. It said the emphasis during the three-day meeting was on implementation of decisions reached at the 22nd party congress. These decisions, in effect, were Khrushchev's.

Ohio Traffic Accident Total Drops in 1961

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The number of Ohio traffic accidents, injuries and deaths dropped during the first 10 months of 1961 as compared with a similar period in 1960 the Department of Highway Safety reports.

The figures in the three categories (1960 first): Traffic accidents 119,573 to 111,783; injuries 55,288 to 64,888; deaths 1,563 to 1,358.

JFK Looks Ahead To 7 More Years

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy reached the end of his first year in the White House today—and obviously he already is looking ahead toward seven more.

Kennedy is certain of three additional years, and it is almost certain that he will try for another four, since he is one president who never has been particularly coy about running for reelection.

The major event on the Kennedy calendar for the day was a dinner in Washington's National Guard Armory. Thousands of Democrats were crowding in from all over the country for the $100-a-plate fund-raising rally featuring Kennedy as speaker.

Even from the weather standpoint, the day was reminiscent of inauguration day a year ago. Again Washington was cloaked in snow, although there was nothing like the six or eight inches dumped on the city on inauguration eve in 1961.

The President recalled that blizzard in chatting with reporters in New York Friday night, during a theater intermission. He took in the hit musical comedy, "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

He had flown from Washington to New York to keep a luncheon appointment in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite of Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. The only other guest was U. Thant, acting secretary-general of the United Nations.

It was the first meeting between Kennedy and Thant. Stevenson fed his distinguished guests the same thing he had had for lunch the day before—no leftovers, a White House official insisted, but a new batch of shrimp and artichoke casserole. Stevenson liked it so well that he wanted the President to have it, said the assistant White House press secretary, Andrew I. Hatcher.

Afterward, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said that a number of major issues confronting the United Nations were reviewed during the two-hour talks. Kennedy, he said, made the trip to New York "to indicate the great interest that the United States has in the United Nations and the support of the United States government for the United Nations."

It was likely, also, that Kennedy's bid to Congress to buy $100 million of bonds to help out the United Nations financially came up for discussion.

After the luncheon, Kennedy drove to his New York headquarters at the Carlyle Hotel and spent the afternoon. Part of it was in a conference with Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York.

Wagner said afterward that they talked politics generally and also got into the problem of urban renewal and Kennedy's recommendation that Congress establish by law a new cabinet post of urban affairs.

T. a question whether he would like to have such a job, Wagner replied: "No, I am the mayor of New York."

Kennedy and an old friend, New York investment banker Charles Spalding, had dinner in the Kennedy suite, then drove to the 46th Street Theater.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A request for travel expenses to the National Association of State Racing Commissioners has been turned down by the state emergency board.

The five members and secretary of the state racing commission requested a total of $2,358.60 to attend the convention March 4-8 in Los Angeles.

The board also cut down on requests to send four members of the newly created Ohio exposition commission to two shows in Toronto, Canada. Board members approved expenses for only two members, one to each show.

Sewing on a wash and wear fabric is different than sewing on ordinary cotton or wool.

Wash and wear fabrics are usually harder, smoother and less pliable than cloth made of natural fibers. This makes the fabric more crease resistant and quick drying. It also makes the fabric more resistant to pins, needles and scissors. The fabric is extremely hard to crease thus causing seam puckering.

In order to sew garments of wash and wear fabric to meet the standards of good construction, we need to choose the pattern and fabric wisely.

Check the hang tag on ends of bolts to learn composition of cloth and type of finish. Also look for laundry instructions.

IT IS highly important that the design on a wash and wear fabric has been printed straight on the grain. You can not straighten the goods if it is not.

To check whether the print runs straight, do this: see that the design is printed on grain and at right angles to the selvege. If it does not, don't buy it unless you're sure it can be straightened by pulling diagonal corners. Such fabric will never hang straight or work up well.

Most patterns are now made with wash and wear fabrics in mind. But there are still a number of things to consider before you choose your pattern.

Because seam puckering and difficulty of easing are common faults of these fabrics, avoid styles where seams form a design or trim on the garment. Also, as much as possible, shy away from patterns with seams on the straight of goods. Straight seams are more susceptible to puckering than those on the bias or even slightly bias.

Look for styles with simple line and little topstitching. Remember the fewer the pieces, the fewer the seams to pucker.

And because it is almost impossible to ease in or shrink out fullness, look for patterns where sleeves and bodice are cut in one or that has dropped sleeves.

For a garment to be completely wash and wear, everything that goes into it must have this quality. Choose buttons that will stand up under the method of laundering to be used on the fabric. Look for a lining that has the same easy care properties as the garment fabric. Select an interfacing clearly labeled for wash and wear. If your garment fabric is a solid color, you may often use a self-interfacing.

If your fabric isn't heavy, use a hem finish that does not require seam tape. But if you need to use seam tape, use nylon tape. For waist stays use either nylon seam tape or a strip of selvege from your fabric.

Mercedized thread is satisfactory for wash and wear. Dacron and nylon work very well, too.

Rather new on the market is textured nylon thread called Toston which may be used on wool, silk, and rayon. It is not recommended for cotton and linen as it requires a lower temperature in ironing.

Zipper tapes in man made fibers are not yet available to the home sewer. Cotton tape works very well if they are sewn with the correct tension.

After you've chosen your pattern, purchased the fabric, and assembled the findings, you're ready to mark, cut, sew and finally press the garment. For information on doing this read this column next week.

Catholic Bishops To Open Campaign

CLEVELAND (AP) — Catholic Bishops of Ohio are sponsoring a public meeting here next month to discuss the constitutionality of federal aid to education.

The conference, to be held Feb. 3, will be the first of five in Ohio in coming months. The others are to be in Toledo, Youngstown, Columbus and Dayton.

The conferences apparently are planned as a followup to the release last month of a Catholic study, which declared federal aid limited to secular or neutral aspects of education in church-related schools would be constitutional.

The study was made by the legal department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, a voluntary organization of the American bishops.

Announcement of the regional meetings comes on the heels of President Kennedy's renewed request to Congress for federal aid to public — but not to private — schools.

Beckett Ends Long Service At Commercial Point Bank

By RICHARD DAVIS

Patrons of a small bank in a small village in northwestern Pickaway County welcomed a new cashier this week and are gradually becoming accustomed to the absence of the tall and popular cigar-smoking gentleman behind the teller's window.

O. M. (Miller) Beckett, cashier at the Scioto Bank of Commercial Point, is due to retire this month upon completion of nearly 44 years of banking service to the community.

Succeeding the veteran banker is Blenn Bales, 162 W. Mount St., who was elevated to the post after serving as assistant cashier at the Third National Bank of Circleville. Bales was elected to the post during the annual meeting of the bank's board of directors.

A life-long resident of Commercial Point, Beckett began his career as assistant cashier in 1918, "just to help them out" he said.

PRIOR to working at the bank he was employed in his father's general store on the main street of the village. The general store was opened in 1832 and stayed in the family for nearly a century. Beckett recalled, "I still have store records that date back to 1832," he said with a sense of historical pride.

With the onslaught of the automobile and inter-urban lines, the store was forced out of business. The retiring cashier remained on the payroll of the bank.

There is an extremely exciting and interesting part of his career Beckett doesn't care to discuss.

During his many years at the village bank, two armed robberies and an attempted holdup occurred. The first time, in Jan. 1933, he was kidnapped and taken hostage. Details of the incidents he wouldn't discuss, except . . . "I was released near Columbus."

A probe into newspaper file disclosed that Beckett was kidnapped at his home while putting his auto in the garage. He was forced into another auto by four men who threatened to kill him if he didn't disclose the combinations of the safe at The Scioto Bank.

The 49-year-old banker convinced the men that he couldn't unlock the safe. He was bound and thrown out of the car along the Scioto River near Columbus.

The most recent and third of the bank robberies occurred October 11, 1960, two years after the second robbery in 1958, when two armed bandits forced Beckett and the assistant cashier, Mrs. Evelyn Kauffeld, into a back room and proceeded to empty cash drawers and the safe of about $5,500.

The financier said his feelings toward the refusal to discuss his experiences of the robberies are not modesty but a sincere "disgust for notoriety."

Beckett and his wife have one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Beavers and two grandchildren. The daughter after leaving the bank was, "as little as possible."

Carcass Evaluation Test Here Shows All Hogs Not Same

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

During recent swine carcass evaluation work done by the Pickaway County Swine Improvement Committee, the fact that all hogs aren't the same was clearly pointed out.

The work was done by selecting hogs on foot that were received at the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative on Monday. Four were slaughtered on Tuesday and the carcasses were evaluated on Wednesday.

Farmers that attended this event were given the opportunity to make their own on-the-foot evaluation, and their results were then compared to the real carcass results.

To maintain a carcass identity of the animals, they were tattooed A-00, A-11, A-22, and A-33. Each one is pictured in this article on foot. Only one side of the carcass was cut up. This was the left side of each.

THE following is a carcass evaluation of each. The prices used were based on the average 1961 Chicago wholesale prices as follows: ham, 40 cents per pound;

'Lean Meter' Used To Show Fat Thickness

An evaluation method for determination of fat back thickness was successfully completed here this week.

This operation may be performed on all live hogs as a means of breeding stock selection. The instrument used is called a "lean meter."

The tool contains flashlight batteries. As the needle passes through fat due to poor conductivity of fat there is no effect shown on the meter.

When the needle reaches lean meat, which is a good conductor, the meter then begins to show activity. The needle is calibrated and a very accurate fat depth is recorded.

THIS operation was presented at the recent swine carcass evaluation demonstration in Circleville.

The same results may be obtained by using a small metal ruler called the "swine fat-back gauge". This is done by piercing the skin and inserting the ruler through the fat until it reaches lean meat. This ruler may be secured at the County Extension Office.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

EDITORS NOTE: Andrew Duval, one of our older Pickaway County 4-H club members, had the honor of winning a trip to "Camp Miniwanca," a youth leadership camp in Michigan.

He won this trip through his many years of excellent 4-H club work and competition at the Ohio State Fair. He has written the following article so that other Pickaway County 4-H members may share some of his experiences last summer.

Camp Miniwanca is located in Western Michigan on the shore of Lake Michigan. It consists of several hundred acres of rolling, forested sand dunes in Oceana County—heartland of the Michigan fruit industry. Here, beginning in early summer, the American Youth Foundation sponsors its "Founders Camps," which are non-denominational youth leadership training camps.

Camp Miniwanca is a national camp. Each year campers from all of the fifty states, Canada, Mexico, and Latin American countries come here for the two week camp sessions.

Of the seven men in my cabin, two were from Missouri, the others from North Dakota, Oklahoma, Hawaii, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Camp opens in late June.

Sessions begin with younger boys camp, followed by younger girls camp, older girls camp, and concluding with older boys camp. Camp Miniwanca is fairly large. There were nearly 500 campers and faculty members assembled for the 1961 older boys camp and over 600 for older girls camp.

As implied by the above group names, Miniwanca is not a mixed group camp. The American Youth Foundation feels that Camp Miniwanca can best accomplish its purpose with an all boy or all girl camp.

UNLIKE many other camps, the purpose of Camp Miniwanca is not recreational or social, but rather Christian leadership training. That does not mean that the American Youth Foundation is trying to train young men and women for professional Christian work. It does mean, though, that the American Youth Foundation realizes that America (always called a Christian nation) needs young men and women with leadership potential who are interested in exemplifying their Christianity in their life's work and in service to their community, state, and nation.

The goal of Camp Miniwanca is to develop each individual — to the limits of his capacity — mentally, socially, physically, and religiously. Needless to say, this can't be accomplished in a two-week camp, but in two weeks at Miniwanca principles may be found and a plan developed to guide the individual toward the achievement of this four-fold goal.

Camp Miniwanca is actually very much like a school. There are classes in such subjects as "Creative Living", "Four Fold Development", "Great Religious Beliefs", "Courtship and Marriage", "Music Appreciation", etc. The program is organized on a four year basis. These are freshman courses. If one is able to return and complete his sophomore, junior and senior year he then will receive a diploma in a regular graduation exercise.

Of course work alone doesn't monopolize all the time, ample time is devoted to organized athletics — swimming, tennis.

The facilities at Miniwanca for these and other activities are very good. Lake Michigan is available for swimming. Nearby is Stong Lake, an inland lake which provides swimming, diving, rowing, canoeing, and sailing. There are tennis, volleyball, badminton, and shuffleboard courts.

The buildings at Miniwanca are quite surprising in themselves. They seem almost a part of their surroundings. Made mostly of logs and stones, they are modernly designed, very solidly constructed, and well furnished.

PROBABLY the most striking example is the "Church of the Dunes". Here, atop a beautifully wooded dune, is a church capable of seating over 700 people. And even though it is built entirely of logs, quite an architectural feat in itself, with its high ceiling, spacious Chancel, and great organ, it has the atmosphere of a great cathedral.

Another of the more impressive buildings is the eating lodge, a recent addition to the camp. Here as many as 700 meals are sometimes prepared and served. The kitchen joins the dining hall. The dining hall itself is much like our own coliseum — spacious, with high vaulted roof. Also, on the grounds are 60 some cabins, housing from seven to nine campers depending upon the number in camp. A new shower house, a small library, staff cabins, a small stone chapel, an assembly building, an amphitheater, an administration building, a small museum council circle, the health service building, work staff apartments, and class cabins complete the facilities.

There are several ways to gain admittance to Camp Miniwanca. I was fortunate enough to win my trip through the 4-H awards program. Thus I received the William H. Danforth Scholarship, which pays tuition, board and lodging. Several of these scholarships are made available in Ohio by the late William Danforth, one of the four founders of the American Youth Foundation. The other method is to secure, complete and return the admission questionnaire.

Hay Handling Talk Set at Forage Meet

J. D. BICKLER

Efficient, economical, hay handling systems on farms don't just happen, according to George Hamrick county Extension agent.

Such systems are planned to meet present and future livestock needs, Hamrick said. They must consider the production and management program to be followed on the farm; the physical facilities available such as buildings and feeders; possible crop production especially on meadow crop acres; management and labor potential; and available finances.

An Ohio State University Extension agricultural engineer will discuss many of the features involved in an efficient hay handling system at a forage institute Jan. 26 from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the new 4-H and Grange Building at the County Fairgrounds. He is J. D. Bickler who specializes in farm buildings and equipment.

"When a farmer starts to plan a hay handling system," Bickler says "he usually finds it is so closely tied to other feed handling problems that he needs to develop a whole materials handling operation."

THREE other Ohio State University specialists will appear on the all-day program with Bickler. They are C. D. McGrew, extension dairyman; O. L. Musgrave, agronomist; and W. R. Schnug, agricultural engineer.

McGrew will point out some ways farmers in this area can provide their dairy cows with high quality roughage on a year-round basis. Musgrave will discuss five major topics related to forage production, and Schnug will report on crop drying and harvesting methods and equipment.

The institute is one of 16 such meetings which the Agricultural Extension Service is conducting in Ohio during January and February to acquaint farmers with the latest information in forage production and handling methods.

Americans tend to evaluate too many things in terms of what Russia is doing. That applies to fall out shelters. If the Soviet Union has shelters for its population, then the United States must have them. Otherwise the urgency is not so apparent.

One research specialist contends Russia has an extensive shelter system for both population and industry. He has never seen any such installations but theorizes they must be there, since the Soviets describe various shelter types.

But a news correspondent, after traveling 12,000 miles in the Soviet Union, failed to find evidence of any shelter. This may

Farm Support Requests Seen Dropping Fifth

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration expects farmer requests for price support loans on 1962 crops to decline about 20 per cent from the 1961 crop level.

This was shown in the President's budget to congress Thursday. Price support loans made during the fiscal year ending June 30 — which cover for the most part crops grown in 1961 — were estimated at $2,945,794,000.

But loans to be made during the next fiscal year—which would cover crops grown this calendar year — were forecast at $2,383,428,000, a reduction of $562,366,000.

Such loans are made on wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, sorghum grain, cotton, tobacco, cottonseed, soybeans, flaxseed, dry beans, rice and peanuts.

The budget showed, on the other hand, that the government expects to buy and acquire through price support loan operations considerably more farm products during the coming fiscal year than during the present one. Farmers may pay off support loans by surrendering commodities pledged as collateral. In the case of dairy products, the government carries out supports by purchasing surplus supplies outright.

The budget estimated the cost of acquisitions this fiscal year at $2,480,401,000. For next year the cost was projected at $2,339,292,000.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aid to state and local governments to be given by the Agriculture Department in the form of monetary grants, commodities and services are expected to total $1 billion in value, compared with $865 million this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The turkey industry is making a voluntary cutback in production from last year's record crop.

The Agriculture Department reports that a survey indicates growers plan to produce 12 per cent fewer turkeys this year than last. Last year's crop topped the previous one by 26 per cent. Prices tumbled to levels below costs of production for many producers.

The department said if growers carry out present intentions the crop would be about 94 million birds, compared with 107 million last year.

Wrongs Don't Make Right!

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and have been married for three months. My husband works nights and I don't know what to do with myself so I go out with my girl friends. When we go out we meet all sorts of boys. I met a boy who is 23 and also married. He says he loves me and now I am all mixed up about my feelings for my husband. I know I am no good for cheating on my husband, but I don't have the will power to stop. My husband doesn't suspect anything. I am afraid I married too young. Can you help me?

ALL MIXED UP: You need more help than I can give you in a letter. If you don't have a clergyman, find one. He will put you on the right track if you accept his guidance. In the meantime, drop those girl friends and forget that 23-year-old "boy" who is obviously as mixed up as you are.

DEAR ABBY: I am going into the hospital in a few weeks for a serious operation. Here is my problem: My daughter-in-law is a registered nurse. She has not offered to go with me. I know if I asked her to she would put up a fuss to my son and tell everyone in town she was forced into it as she is very lazy and vicious. We have had experiences with her before. My other son said if she didn't have the decency to offer, he would hire a special nurse for me. What should I do?

CONFUSED: Let your other son hire a special nurse for you. You wouldn't want a lazy, vicious nurse taking care of you just because it was free would you?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a young married couple who deliberately go out of their way to keep from having children because they "don't want to be bothered"? They are very frank in telling their friends that they enjoy their freedom and independence. When they are asked what they intend to do in their old age, they reply, "We'll spend our money on clothes and travel." I would like to know if you think this couple is cold and selfish because my husband and I are that couple. We fail to see any point in having children. They are nothing but hard work and misery.

BEING CAREFUL: Please continue to be "careful." Children born of such a union start life with a heavy burden.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Crites and daughter, Mary Virginia, W. Franklin St., returned from a month's vacation in Miami, Fla.

Ray Bliss, chairman of the committee, says, "We don't expect to win in these big cities in the foreseeable future but we can reduce the margin by which we lose." That advice should carry a lot of weight.

"In most big cities," says Bliss, "the Republican Party generally is out-manned, out-organized, out-spent and out-worked." And outside.

Ray Bliss is Republican chairman in Ohio, "Mother of Presidents". He should have some conception of what's wrong.

The Republicans are great in the grass roots. Pavement they don't dig.

The Republicans suffer from chronic congestion. And they're trying to refuse medical aid.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SURE KELSEY got so stoned one night at his favorite bar and grill that it took four of his devoted pals to steer him home. On the way they stumbled over a department store mannikin that had fallen out of the back of a delivery truck. It was Friend O'Toole's bright notion to prop up poor Kelsey with his arm draped around the mannikin in the back room of the next saloon on the route.

It was there that Kelsey recovered consciousness. When the mannikin fell out of his grip he let out a yell of fear. His friends didn't help any when they told him, "Now you're really in the soup, Kelsey. You've killed the poor fellow, and they'll be hangin' you for it."

Kelsey rallied to the occasion. He gave the mannikin a resounding kick and explained angrily, "It was self-defense, boys. The blankety blank pulled a knife on me!"

Recently announced: Many expectant mothers receive no care, because doctors aren't exploding as fast as the population. Leading medical centers are starting to assign nurse-midwives to "normal" births. Trained to recognize complications, the nurse-midwife calls an experienced obstetrician at the first sign of trouble. This way, the doctor is saved for "urgent" cases.

Also: Emergency tetanus boosters can't protect you fast enough, if you haven't had a booster shot in 4 years. Without tetanus protection you'll have to tangle with an injection of antitoxin — and the violent reactions which some times follow.

Have you had tetanus shots? When was your last booster? Bicarbonate can cause heartburn! Both acid and stretching irritate raw nerve endings in the esophagus (gullet) near the stomach. As bicarbonate bubbles up, it stretches the esophagus, igniting heartburn.

Your doctor, druggist and TV can all tell you better ways to fight stomach acid.

Scientists are busily inventing mathematical formulas that mimic human function. By feeding these formulas into an electronic brain, they expect to solve medical questions without testing a single person. It's taken modern electronics to finally get your number!

Fluoride-containing vitamin drops can fill out Junior's daily requirement if your water contains some fluoride. These drops don't supply enough to protect growing teeth when water lacks fluoride. And the expense can't compare to the few cents a year fluoride costs each person!

The Public Wants To Know

Government is weak when men are appointed to administrative jobs who have had little or no administrative experience. The politician can serve to help someone be elected but that does not mean that he knows how to manage an important office or that he has a breadth of view which serves the country.

To cite a case, Salvatore Anthony Bontempo was appointed to be Administrator of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs of the State Department, a position of outstanding significance. A man appointed to such a position should have a broad view of the world, a knowledge of geography and a commerce, an understanding of espionage and the techniques of security. It turned out that Bontempo, before he was appointed and resigned, had no such experience. He was a lawyer who had not practiced law; he had been a welfare worker and a store inspector in Newark and managed a company of his own, Miller and Bontempo, Inc., in Dayton, Ohio, which dealt in surplus war materials.

In May 1953, Bontempo, after returning to Newark, became a City Commissioner and eventually Director of the Division of Veteran Services, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development. In 1958, he became Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

What all these political jobs have to do with training for the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs of the State Department, it is hard to say. If a top FBI or Secret Service or long-experienced consular service man were appointed to this position, it could be understood. That position has to do with immigration, passports, the proper conduct of consular offices, the operations of foreign spies against the United States.

Bontempo was apparently appointed because he was an active and effective politician in Newark. Be that as it may, he had no prior training to serve in this office. It is further reported that Bontempo was appointed because he is an Italo-American.

It is very dangerous for this country for men to be appointed because of racial or religious relationships. There has been too much of this in municipal, state and local appointments and the time has come to oppose this because it is definitely antagonistic to American principles.

The purpose of this account is not particularly to call attention to Bontempo but rather to emphasize the need for a reorganization not only of the State Department but of the entire federal organization which has grown in size and character since the beginning of World War II and which requires immediate reorganization. Two Presidents have appointed Herbert Hoover and very effective commissions to accomplish such a reorganization. President Kennedy's father was a member of such a Commission and the Attorney General, Robert Kennedy, served on one of the Commissions. It is about time that the Executive Branch of government be reorganized so that it functions efficiently and in the best interest of the American people.

It is clear that the Civil Service, the Foreign Service Officers and tenure, while intended to safeguard public servants from politicians, have not served to safeguard the people against improper appointments. Once a fellow gets himself on the Civil Service or the Foreign Service the interest of the people may be sacrificed to his selfish purposes. This then is the real peril of political appointments. It is not so much that these persons are put on jobs but that it becomes increasingly difficult to get rid of them. After a while, it is impossible to get rid of them because they have established tenure.

I have heard for many months that the Eastland Committee was engaged in investigating this question. Time after time, it is suggested that on a certain date, public hearings will be held by that Committee. Each time, the date is postponed. In its stead, there is a secret hearing, but the so-called Executive Session passes like a whisper in the wind. The latest news is that the Eastland Committee fears the very great power of Senator Fulbright. This may not be so at all. It may simply be passing the buck.

'Radiation' and 'SAC' Topics At Registered Nurses Meet

Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Charles Wellman, 830 Atwater Ave., with 28 members present.

A business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Orville West. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given.

A request was made for volunteers to work at the Blood Bank and Well-Child Clinic. The Well-Child Clinic will be held on Feb. 14 with Mrs. Dale Gifford, Mrs. Hugh Neff and Mrs. Josephine Higgins assisting. The Blood Bank will return on Feb. 16. Mrs. Raynor Sebulsky, Mrs. Carl Seymour, Mrs. Charles Walters, Mrs. Clarence Clark, Mrs. H. W. Fraas and Mrs. Robert Denman will assist.

The Civil Defense committee gave a report concerning newspaper articles and publicity planned to appear twice weekly to familiarize the public with important information.

It was announced that the booklet, "Fallout Protection", is available to the public at Civil Defense headquarters. The booklet is published by the Office of Civil Defense of the Defense Department.

Guest speakers for the evening were Dr. Ray Carroll and Captain M. L. Hurlburt.

Dr. Carroll spoke on "Radiation." He explained that radiation has been present in the earth's atmosphere for thousands of years and some radiation is needed for proper evolution. The average exposure by per cent may be shown as follows: 40 per cent — natural sources such as rocks and sun; 50 per cent — medical or dental x-rays; 10 per cent — distributed into amounts of 2.5 per cent each of items such as watch and clock dials, television, nuclear wastes of power plants and fallout testing.

Human tolerance is calculated in terms of Roentgens. People normally receive 5-10 Roentgens per year; however, from fallout, one may absorb up to 200 Roentgens and survive. If 450 Roentgens are absorbed a 50-50 chance for survival is present and over 600 Roentgens are fatal. One may receive up to 1000 Roentgens in small doses which may be tolerated without ill effects.

Dr. Carroll continued by listing the symptoms of excess radiation. These are: hair loss, (if not in great excess hair will return); burns, first and second degree; extreme fatigue; nausea and vomiting; increase in leukemia and cataracts.

The speaker stated that the effects of radiation are in two categories: one is individual — increase of leukemia; and the second, genetic effects — still undetermined due to time. Enough time has not elapsed to determine the harm to future generations.

Dr. Carroll concluded by saying that the protection available will determine the loss of life. In an average house, 50 per cent protection is available; a basement cut to 10; a fallout shelter, cut 1,250 and a public shelter, cut to 1,000 or less.

A question answer period followed Dr. Carroll's informative talk.

Captain M. L. Hurlburt of Lockbourne A.F. Base discussed the operation of the Strategic Air Command. The slogan for SAC is "Peace is our Profession" according to Capt. Hurlburt who began his talk by saying that SAC began in 1941 at Bowling A.F.B. and operated for five years during World War II. In 1946, Congress appropriated money for SAC to become a permanent force.

There are approximately 75 SAC bases throughout the world. Capt. Hurlburt continued by saying that in case of war, 15 minutes is all the time required to have every SAC base plane in the air and ready for action. One third of the air force personnel is with SAC.

He further explained that it takes 23 minutes for a refueling tanker plane to leave Lockbourne, meet a bomber, refuel three thousand gallons at one-thousand gallon per minute and send the plane on its flight. He added, also, that the bombers are armed and ready for flight at a moments notice.

Capt. Hurlburt said the SAC bombers maintain a five-man crew. It takes 18 months to train a technical crew, 18 months to train a navigator and two years to train a pilot — at the rate of $25,000 per man. A missile launch officer is trained by the government at a cost of $50-60,000.

The next meeting of the guild will be held Feb. 20 in the guild Room of Berger hospital. Mrs. Arthur Bowman will serve as hostess. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Clifford Roll Mrs. H. W. Frass and Miss Margaret Anderson.

Following the program refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Charles Wellman assisted by Mrs. E. H. Marshall and Mrs. Charles Walters.

Chanel Bag Now Becomes Rage in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Every woman worth her fashion salt this winter has what is popularly known as a Chanel Bag.

The object of the widespread desire is a medium-sized, soft-leather, quilted envelope with a long chain handle. Although Coco Chanel has made the same bag with slight variations for seven years, the fad, with a will quite its own, literally unleashed itself in the fall.

The purse, with its characteristic quilting and chain, has been copied by Paris' two biggest department stores, by specialty handbag stores, even by dime stores.

The real Chanel bag is made of softest chamois leather. Navy and black versions are lined in red. Chanel's double C trademark is stamped on the inside flap. It is roomy, opening like an accordion to disclose three separate compartments.

To top it off, a current refinement entwines a fine leather strip through the loops of the delicate chain handle.

The ultimate is a white jersey quilted version which no honest shopgirl could afford to own. Cost of the real thing: $60-$100.

True to her principles, courting Chanel does not resent being copied. "If people can't afford to buy a real Chanel, I'd rather they bought a fake Chanel with the idea of Chanel in mind," she has said.

Paris' big Printemps department store has been authorized to call its quilted models "Chanel style" and has decorated its windows with the slogan "I love chains". Five hundred copies which ranged in price from $14-$25 were sold the first month.

The dime store version, also leather, ingeniously quilts only one side of the purse, thus charging a mere $4. Three thousand dime-store "Chanel's" have been sold.

There's no doubt the little purse has become a new Paris uniform.

Tots Learn To Skate by Watching Parents

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Once upon a time the young heroes and heroines of juvenile fiction ran away from home to join a Wild West show or a Circus. But popular plots have been plowed under by time.

Wild West shows have vanished with the buffalo and circus companies aren't so numerous as they once were.

What's left in the way of similar story angles for today's author of kiddy stories?

How about an epic concerning a youngster who travels with an ice show? They're the super-spectacular productions of our time.

Consider for example the Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies, a gala skating review that crisscrosses the United States and Canada.

Currently at New York's Madison Square Garden, where it will remain through January 21, the Follies is, from a child's viewpoint, a Never-Never Land come to life.

It has everything, including a circus skating number complete with bunnies, bears, clowns and the most shapely tigers ever seen. They're pretty — costumed members of the Ice Follies.

For excitement there are Indians too. In full-feathered costume they whoop up some fancy skating to a tom-tom beat in a colorful sequence called "Happy Hunting Ground."

For added attractions, there's a court jester in a fabulous Venetian spectacular, a lovably amusing, skating bull in a comedy number, dancing snowflakes in a winter fable and a whole skating baseball team for the gayest ball game on ice.

As for the plot, instead of the hackneyed run away-from home bit why not a story about a youngster born into the world of good skates, a child who follows the Follies around the country with his skating Mom or Dad and winds up an ice star himself?

The beginning of the story at least, can be taken from real life for a number of Follies' cast members go on tour with their children.

The littlest trooper of them all is Christopher Beatty whose mother and dad, Colin and Molly Beatty, are a starring skating team. Just one and a half years old, Chris already has had a fling — and a flop — on the ice.

Cherisse Kermond, 3, is another junior traveler.

Her daddy Eric is half of the famous skating brother-act the famous brother — act, the Kermonds.

In a little girl's opinion, Eric Kermond is more than wonderful for Daddy is an actobat on ice, slippery business.

April Johnson, 3½, has a Daddy that delights all youngsters too, for Gary Johnson is a comic skater and a top Follies favorite with the younger audience set.

Both parents of Billy Jack, 4½, are skaters. One of Mother Jean's roles in this year's show really sets her apart in her child's eyes. She's a tiger in the circus sequence!

Some things run in families and skating is one of them a tradition as it were. All the kids skate, or are learning, so today's little skates may well be the big skates of tomorrow's Follies.

It's a great and glamorous life for these show biz youngsters — and what a story for an author who can see the magic of the fabulous Ice Follies world through the wide-open eyes of a child who's part of it!

Seasonal Desserts Accent Less Richness and Calories

By ALICE DENHOFF

Desserts that are hearty, without being rich or heavy, come into their own after all the rich, calorie filled holiday goodies.

Here are two puddings of this type.

CARAMEL VANILLA PUDDING

1/2 c. sugar
1/2 c. boiling water
4 eggs
1 tbsp. pure vanilla extract
1/4 tsp. salt
3 c. light cream
Blanched almonds

Melt sugar in a heavy skillet or saucepan, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Add boiling water and stir constantly until all lumps are dissolved and syrup is formed.

Coat bottom and sides of a ring mold or baking dish with syrup. Set aside.

Beat eggs lightly; add remaining caramel syrup, vanilla extract and salt. Stir in 1/4 c. of the cream. Beat remaining cream and add. Pour into the caramel-coated mold or baking dish. Place in pan of hot water. Bake at 300 degrees F., for one hr. 15 min. or until mixture does not adhere to a knife inserted in center. Cool.

Unmold onto serving dish. Garnish with blanched almonds. Serves 6 to 8.

Fine and hearty indeed is this final mincemeat goody of the season.

STEAMED MINCEMEAT VANILLA PUDDING

2 1/2 c. sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. double-acting baking powder

1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 c. chopped nuts
1 c. light, mild molasses
3/4 c. milk

2 tsp. pure vanilla extract

1 egg, well beaten
1 c. finely chopped beef suet
1 1/2 c. moist mincemeat
Sift first 3 ingredients together. Add nuts; mix well. Stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into well-greased 2-qt. mold. Cover and steam 3 hrs.

(If lid is not available, cover with aluminum foil or 2 layers of heavy brown paper and hold in place with cord or an elastic band.)

Remove from steamer, uncover, and place in 300 degrees F. oven until top is not sticky — about 10 min.

Serve with Vanilla Hard Sauce. If desired, make this pudding a few days ahead and heat in the mold in a kettle of boiling water just before serving.

Serves 8.

VANILLA HARD SAUCE

1/2 c. butter or margarine
3/4 c. sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tsp. milk or strong coffee
2 tsp. vanilla extract

Soften butter and mix until fluffy. Gradually blend in sugar and milk or coffee. Stir in vanilla extract.

Serve over hot steamed pudding. Makes 1 1/2 c. sauce.

To prepare a fluffy hard sauce, fold 1 stiffly-beaten egg white into the above mixture.

Makes a nice change from the usual hard sauce texture.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaFollette and daughters, Kentland, Ind., and Mrs. Fred Dreiling, Blacksburg, Va., have been visiting with their mother, Mrs. Walter Downing, 223 N. Scioto St.

Wright, Smith Pace Lady Golfers

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Favored Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex. and Marilyn Smith of Jupiter, Fla. led the field of more than 100 golfers into the second round of the Sea Island Ladies Invitational Golf Tournament today.

The two women finished the opening round with 75s, three over par. It was a dark, windy day and the frustrating course caused at least three players to walk off the green in disgust. Another player, Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, Ga. broke into tears on the 18th green.

Veteran Banker Gives Views

Layman's Money Philosophy Reverses in Last 50 Years

By GUNNER MUSSELMAN

Galvin Wire Service Editor

Basic banking procedures have changed little in the last half-century, but the money philosophy of bank patrons has virtually reversed itself.

That is the observation of McEwing Noggle who has completed 50 years as a leader in Circleville financial circles.

Noggle believes that while the banking business has become a highly mechanized operation and has seen ledger-and-pencil replaced by electronic computers, the contact between banker and borrower is basically unchanged—a personal understanding pegged on the patron's "moral responsibility."

But, Noggle observed this week, the patron's attitude about money is vastly different than it was 50 years ago.

"He seems to want to spend now and save later," the soft-spoken financier muses. "His grandfather did just the opposite."

"One-half century ago, a man planned diligently and saved money carefully when it came time to buy a house."

"The average man today has little conception of the weight of debt or the power of the dollar."

Noggle, vice president of Circleville Third National Bank, recalled that recently a young man entered his office to secure a loan to buy a new home. The youth was freshly married and had a job paying $400 a month. He had nary a cent in his jeans but had his eye on a house with a price tag of $30,000.

The silver-haired banker said that "I felt sorry for that young man because I'm afraid he is typical of his generation. It took only a minute to show him that interest charges alone on that house would take far too much out of his monthly paycheck. He just didn't appreciate the weight and responsibility of debt. Nor did he take into account the possibility of emergency in his future."

He is of the newer generation that has not felt the chill of the great depression or the tension of wartime. He has lived only during a period of general prosperity when money is plentiful and has lost its meaning to many.

"Somewhere along the line, his education has been sadly neglected. Should another depression come along, he will be in for a shock."

By contrast, Noggle recalled a woman of his own generation who long had dreamed of having her own mink stole. She saved until she felt she could make the purchase. Making her selection at the store, she told the clerk she would pay cash. The clerk shook her head in disbelief and commented that "it just isn't done."

"It should be done more often," Noggle believes.

Noggle said his refusal of a house loan to the young man was based on the same premise he learned 50 years ago — moral responsibility.

"Back in those days," the banker recalled, "a man known to have $100,000 (that was big wealth then) had no better chance than the man with nothing to his name. Each was judged on his character, not his bank balance."

"The best way then — as it is now — to establish banking credit was to get a co-signer on your first note, pay it off on schedule and then get subsequent loans on your own name alone."

Installment loans were not made when Noggle entered the banking business. He has no objection to them now, but he says he sometimes wishes promoters would not make it seem that money should not be taken seriously, that you can buy anything for a dollar down, a dollar a week.

"Noggle sees nothing evil about 'demand' notes in which a bank can call for payment with little or no notice. Noggle says he is proud that 'in 50 years I have never handed one to the sheriff for action. . . they all have been made good.'"

And he says he has found that one of the best deals for buying real estate is the "GI loan" program. His organization, known by its patrons as "the little bank with the big heart" has been a leader in the GI loan field.

"Not one has gone sour on us yet," Noggle reports.

Noggle stepped aside as chief operating officer of Circleville Third National Bank this week, but he maintains his regular office hours, available to give advice and counsel to his successors.

At the same time, he will be able to spend more time with his two hobbies — he is treasurer of the 18,000-member American Rose Society and long has been noted as a historian in south central Ohio.

McElroy Hints He Believes DiSalle 'Small'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, attempted indirectly Friday to characterize Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as a small man with big ideas of his own importance.

In a speech before the Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, McElroy did not mention his fellow Democrat by name, but he obviously referred to DiSalle when he remarked:

"Every person with a brain in his head objects, and justly so, when he sees that those who seek to impose, and succeed in imposing higher taxes, are very often small men with big ideas of their own importance."

The attorney general asserted that big government is not necessarily better government. He added:

"It is my firm belief that essentially good government is the end result of good men. Good government cannot be bought. It comes by the grace of god to those who earn it by choosing for the government position men and women who have, first of all, learned to walk in humility."

"Having gone through life with open eyes, a deep conviction has matured in my mind: That the moral sense of responsibility to the people of the man who occupies public office is but one of the aspects of the fundamental moral sense the individual is endowed with toward his creator."

Poster Girl Retires, Has Big Ambition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus' five-year-old Linda Breese is retiring, but with ambition for greater heights.

In 1961 Linda was national poster child for the National Foundation's March of Dimes. She has met the President of the United States and all her favorite cowboy stars.

But much more than that, Linda can now walk unaided.

She was born with an opening in her spinal column. She underwent surgery when only a few hours old. At nine months, doctors discovered that Linda had water on the brain. A "Shunt" tube, which drains excess fluid from her head into the blood stream, was inserted.

Every three months she goes to the birth defects study center at Columbus' Children's Hospital. The center was established in 1959 through March of Dimes funds. It is the first of its kind in the country.

Doctors say Linda has far exceeded expectations. Her immediate plan is to take dancing lessons to use the ballet slippers a friend recently gave her.

As for the future, Linda hasn't quite decided. "I think I'm going to be a nurse," she said. But then, "maybe I might be a cowgirl and go get a farm."

Tigers Score 75, but Lose Tilt to Scrappy Hillsboro

Circleville High School's cage force put forth its highest scoring total of the season last night at Hillsboro, but the rampaging Indians still managed to pull out with an 88-75 victory.

The blistering show of offensive power almost boiled down to a scoring duel between Dick Kline of Circleville and John Cummings of Hillsboro. Kline swept a wide path to the basket for 29 points, but the pesky, Cummings showed his left-handed artistry for 39.

Circleville stayed within striking distance most of the way, but the blistering show of offensive power almost of the way, with Kline hitting from all angles on the floor. But the Tigers' efforts to cope with Cummings was a different matter.

The opening quarter saw the Indians advance to a 19-18 lead, and then stretch it to a 47-36 gap at the half. Although Circleville threatened with several rallies at various times, the host's still managed to establish a 66-52 favorable margin in the third canto's end.

COACH Jack Weikert credited his crew's offensive thrust, but was critical of frequent defensive lapses which enabled Cummings and company easier than deserved opportunities. The CHS mentor was pleased with the team's determination to battle throughout, especially at times when Hillsboro appeared too ready to put the tilt out of sight.

In addition to Kline's outstanding performance, Weikert commended the rebounding of George Trego who scrapped under both boards and wound up with 10 points. High scoring Sam Weller was held to 11 tallies as two and three defensive men usually dropped back on him in the key and around the bucket.

Circleville used a fast break to good advantage to go along with Kline's accuracy from the wing and sides and driving ability.

The contest was marred by fouls, with a total of 59 being charged to both teams. The Tigers lost Clessen Thomas on infractions and Kline, Jim Wellington, Luther Johnson and Fred Moore were forced to a careful pace with four each.

Circleville, although running hot in streaks, still only managed a rather cool 28.7 percentage from the field. The locals fired 80 times and connected on 23.

Hillsboro placed four men in double scoring figures. A brotherly act was evident as Cummings' brother, Ferris, arched in 12 points and Hughes and Cluff added 10 each.

THE VICTORY enabled Hillsboro to retain a hold on third place in the SCO behind front running Hillsboro and second place Miami Trace. Circleville is currently in sixth place with a 3-5 record in the league and 3-8 overall.

It was the second loss of the season to Hillsboro. The Indians gained a 44-41 victory here Dec. 29. Circleville dropped both ends of last night's engagement, losing the reserve tilt, 44-38.

The Kittens fell behind at halftime, 20-16, after battling to an 8-8 deadlock in the first quarter. The same spread prevailed at the end of the third canto, with the young Indians in command at 28-24.

John Pharr and Dave Bass were the sparkplugs for Coach Don Neff's unit with 15 and 13 points respectively. McConaughy showed the way for Hillsboro with 17.

The Tigers are scheduled to remain idle until Friday when Franklin Heights rolls into town for a league encounter. The following Saturday night the locals travel to Chillicothe for a return match with the Cavaliers.

Maris Tells Columbus Club He Relaxed Only in Games

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Roger Maris, who hit 61 home runs for the New York Yankees last season, said Friday night the only pressure he felt during the late going was from writers and photographers.

Maris was one of 30-plus sports celebrities honored at the seventh annual awards dinner of the Columbus Touchdown Club.

After receiving his awards as player of the year, and for the outstanding athletic performance of the season, Maris was asked by toastmaster Mel Allen if he had been under any pressure in his race to break Babe Ruth's major league record of 60 home runs.

"Everytime I open my mouth it seems to come out wrong in the papers," the Yankee slugger answered.

"It got to the place that during the ball games was the only time I could relax."

Quotable bits from other honored guests included: Ernie Davis of Syracuse, college football player of the year: "I was willing to play with the Washington club which drafted me, but I feel honored to play with the Cleveland Browns and Jimmy Brown."

Merlin Olsen, Utah State line-man: "Sam Huff of the Giants asked me if I planned to play pro-football. I said I did. Sam said 'The your shoes on tight—you are coming out of the m'ors.'"

Murray Warmath, Minnesota coach: "I can't understand you Columbus people. Out home we like the Rose Bowl. Our 1960 team (national champions but loser in the Rose Bowl) had more depth, but our 1961 team (Rose Bowl winner) was more resourceful and luckier."

Ed Jucker, U. of Cincinnati coach, whose team whipped Ohio State in the 1961 NCAA basketball finals: "I wasn't sure you'd allow me to come to Columbus. I hope Cincinnati and Ohio State can meet soon in a regular season game."

Whizzer White, assistant U. S. attorney general: "I got the autographs of all the others for my son. He's more interested in those than in the autographs of some of the folks around Washington." The former All-America, now a hall of fame member, received an eight-inch silver bowl and quipped:

"I can put all the Democratic votes from Columbus in this." (Ohio went Republican in 1960.)

A last half surge was sufficient to give the Buffaloes of Scioto Twp. a cliff-hanger 50-48 victory over visiting Williamsport last night.

Williamsport led at the end of the first two quarters, but it was Scioto stealing the show in the last two chapters. The Deers rolled to a 15-9 lead in the opening period and stayed ahead, 24-21, at intermission before falling behind 37-36, at the third quarter buzzer.

Upping their record to 7-5, the Buffaloes compiled a 40 per cent average from the field. Mike Alloway, stealing the ball eight times during the evening, paced the winners with 13 points. Bob Whiteside, making the most of with 11 and Jim Albright drove for 10.

French Miler Set For Indoor Test

LOS ANGELES (AP)—France's Michel Jazy supplies the international flavor tonight when he hooks up with Uncle Sam's Jim Beatty in the mile run, a feature of the annual Los Angeles Invitational indoor track meet.

The Keith Merrin victors forged ahead 18-8 at the end of the first period and commanded a sizable 31-16 lead at halftime. A 49-30 third canto margin meant smooth sailing for the remainder of the test.

Teaming up with Spangler were Roger Clarke and Dan Hicks with 10 points each. Clarke collected most of his tallies on jumps and Hicks worked well underneath.

MONROE'S attack centered on Jeff Bigam who found the range from all over the floor for 23 points and top scoring laurels for the evening.

Trojans Rap Cats, 60-50

Darby's Trojans defeated Jackson last night, 60-50, in a cage test played on the winner's court.

Paul Kreider paced the Trojans with 19 markers on seven field goals and five charity tosses. Darvin Conley with 14 and Charles Brown with 13 gave Kreider able support.

Larry Beard, Jackson's scoring ace, was the game's leading scorer as he ripped the nets for 22 points. He was backed by Clifton's nine and Sine's eight, but the balanced scoring of the Trojans was the difference.

The game was close for the first three quarters. Darby jumped off to a 10-8 lead at the end of the first canto and maintained that margin at halftime, 26-24. The Wildcats could never get closer than two points as the Trojans pushed their lead to 38-35 at the three quarter mark.

Caudill, starting his first game for the Trojans, showed the way in the fourth quarter as he held Beard scoreless. His spark gave the Trojans the extra lift they needed to assure victory.

The reserve game was a thriller, with Jackson winning, 34-33. The game was decided in the last minute of play as a Wildcat reservist sank two charity tosses for the victory.

Campbell Leading At Pebble Beach

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Ex-collegian Joe Campbell never has won any money but today he led the storm-battered field into the third round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament, stalking the $5,300 top award.

Despite whistling wind and rain Friday, Campbell added a one-under-par 71 to his opening 67 for a 138 at the midway spot in the rich event. His round included a blast from a sand trap on the 13th hole that dropped into the cup for a birdie.

Close on the heels of the former Purdue star was Jacky Cupit, the 23-year-old Texan who won "rookie-of-the-year" honors in 1961. The youngster from Long View also had a 71 for 139.

They were the only players to break par over the 6,701-yard Pebble Beach course in the miserable weather.

Others included: Dow Finsterwald 73-74—147 Jack Nicklaus 71-77—148

Ashville Trims Walnut, 75-41

Powerful Broncs Push Cage Record to 11-0

Ashville pushed its season record to 11-0 last night with a convincing 75-41 victory over host Walnut.

Tom Rathburn paced the high-riding Broncs with 19 points on nine field goals and one foul shot. Dan Hollenback ripped the nets for 16 and Dick Hollenback chipped in with 14.

The scoring of the three Broncs more than provided a winning margin. The Tigers experienced a cold night from the field.

Ashville jumped off to a commanding 18-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and pushed the margin to 42-18 at halftime. Walnut showed signs of a comeback as they outscored the Broncs in the third quarter, 16 to 7.

Ashville held the lead at the three quarter mark, 49-34, and coasted home with a strong fourth quarter to finish on top.

The reserve preliminary provided plenty of thrills as Walnut defeated the young Broncs in a game that was nip and tuck from beginning. Jim Blanton paced the Cat's 30-29 victory with 12 points. Dave Rose led the Broncs with 13.
